

The Dr. Nicholas Parlamis Memorial Fund

8923 Shore Road
Brooklyn, New York 11209

Dear Family and Friends,

We wish to sincerely thank you for your support in our fundraising efforts to remodel and rebuild the library of the Dimitrios and Georgia Kaloidis Parochial School in memory of our husband, father and grandfather Dr. Nicholas Parlamis. Besides his love for his family and his 40 years of dedicated medical service to the community he held dear, Dr. Parlamis had a passion for writing in general, but specifically poetry. This passion led to a love of learning that lasted his entire life. Achievement in education was paramount to Dr. Parlamis and something he strove for in himself as a student and in his students as a professor at Downstate University Medical School and mentor to his countless residents. We believe he is looking down with pride and approval of our efforts to give the children of DGK a modern and state of the art learning space conducive to broadening their minds.

The new library will include beautifully custom crafted, built-in bookcases, conference tables for the students to work at and four computer research stations, each connected to the internet. There will also be a multimedia center giving students the tools they need to present projects that they have worked on and the opportunity to video conference with schools from other countries. These improvements will not only serve our students of today but for many years to come.

In closing we would like to once again express our appreciation for your support and continued generosity as we move forward towards completion. The new Dr. Nicholas Parlamis Memorial Library is scheduled to be unveiled in spring 2010 and we would love for you to visit and see what, together, we have been able to accomplish.

Sincerely,
The Parlamis Family
